He was manager of the Federated Press which is a service that provides not only the services both of the big labor organizations.

Mr. Coy's writings include articles and feature stories in Current History, the Survey, the Family, New York Times, Christian Science Monitor, and Baltimore Evening Sun.

Mr. STARNES. What about Mr. Coy; was he ever connected with any school or college in this country in any capacity?

Mr. ALSBERG. I believe at one time he taught at Commonwealth College.

Mr. STARNES. Where is that located?

Mr. ALSBERG. In Arkansas, I believe.

Mr. STARNES. When was he connected with that school?

Mr. ALSBERG. I have not the dates here. I know that at one time he was there, between 1926 and 1927, or 1927-28. It may be he was there again later.

Mr. STARNES. A moment ago I do not know whether I got you clearly, or not, or understood you clearly. Did you say that in your experience you had something to do with any national committee for political prisoners, or that Mr. Coy did?

Mr. ALSBERG. No; I said I did.

Mr. STARNES. Oh, you did?

Mr. ALSBERG. Yes, sir.

Mr. STARNES. What was that connection, please?

Mr. ALSBERG. I was one of the members, but the chief publication of that committee, while I was connected with it, was this book on Russia.

Mr. STARNES. Who were the officers, Mr. Alsberg?

Mr. ALSBERG. What is that?

Mr. STARNES. Who were the officers on that committee? Will you give us the names of the officers of that committee?

Mr. ALSBERG. Well, there seems to have been only one officer, Roger N. Baldwin. On the other hand, the committee was elected from every group of liberal opinion. If you read it, you will find that is the case. The reason for that was that I wanted every kind of liberal opinion represented, so that we could get the backing on this book.

Mr. STARNES. Will you set out for the record—you need not read them now—those names there? Will you furnish those for the record and let the reporter have them? There is no need of reading them unless the other members of the committee want to hear them.

Mr. ALSBERG. Yes, sir.

Mr. STARNES. Did Mr. Coy teach journalism down at Commonwealth?

Mr. ALSBERG. No. I think he taught literature, as far as I can make out.

Mr. STARNES. Do you know about his making a visit to Spain in 1934-1935, when he was over there about 6 months?

Mr. ALSBERG. I know he was in Spain; I have not inquired when he was there.

Mr. STARNES. During the time he was there, you know he contributed a number of articles to the New Masses, did he not?

Mr. ALSBERG. I did not know that.

Mr. STARNES. Do you know whether, in 1935-36, he acted as publicity man for the Council of Social Agencies over in St. Louis?

Mr. ALSBERG. Yes; so his statement says.

Mr. STARNES. Do you know whether or not he was sent to Spain in 1934-35 by the Communist Party as an observer and chronicler of events there?

Mr. ALSBERG. I have no knowledge of that.

Mr. STARNES. You have no knowledge of that whatsoever?

Mr. ALSBERG. No.

Mr. STARNES. Do you know anything about the activities of his wife Mildred Price, who is an organizer for the Communist Party?

Mr. ALSBERG. I have no knowledge of his wife's activities at all. I only met her recently.

Mr. STARNES. Do you know Dr. Jerome Cook and Jack Conroy?

Mr. ALSBERG. I have met Jack Conroy. I don't know Jerome Cook; at least, I don't remember him.

Mr. STARNES. Do you know that in 1936-37 Mr. Coy assisted in organizing the Inter-Professional Association, a Communist subsidiary for dentists, doctors, and other professionals, and he had associated with him in that role Jack Conroy and Dr. Jerome Cook?

Mr. ALSBERG. I don't know anything about that.

Mr. STARNES. Do you know whether or not, in 1936-37, he went to New York as eastern manager of the Federated Press?

Mr. ALSBERG. Yes; I know that.

Mr. STARNES. Do you know anything about the background of Commonwealth College down in Arkansas?

Mr. ALSBERG. I know it is something of a liberal college; I have not investigated it.

Mr. STARNES. Do you know whether or not it has the reputation of being communistic?

Mr. ALSBERG. I don't know that.

Mr. STARNES. What do you know about Mr. Coy's experience with the Federated Press?

Mr. ALSBERG. I cannot answer that; I know nothing more than that he was eastern manager of the Federated Press.

Mr. STARNES. What is the Federated Press? Do you know about that?

Mr. ALSBERG. The Federated Press is a labor press which supplies information to the A. F. of L. labor unions and the C. I. O. impartially.

Mr. STARNES. Is that the same group that previous witnesses testified to as being communistic in its activities or control?

Mr. ALSBERG. I don't know. I have not seen that testimony, Mr. Congressman.

Mr. STARNES. I think you will find that two or more witnesses have testified to that effect.

Were you acquainted with Mr. Coy when he was affiliated with the Commonwealth College?

Mr. ALSBERG. No. I never met Mr. Coy until his name was proposed and letters were brought in about him.

Mr. STARNES. Who is Oric Johns?

Mr. ALSBERG. Oric Johns is a writer in New York. He originates in California. He got on to the New York City project.

Mr. STARNES. Was he ever a member of the Communist Party?

Mr. ALSBERG. I don't know, but I have a letter from him which he wrote me recently. I have not seen Mr. Johns for 2 years, but there is a letter here in which he says he is not a member of the Communist Party, and says so. Shall I read that into the record?

Mr. STARNES. We understand he is not now a member. That is the information which comes to this committee, that he is not now a member of the Communist Party.

Mr. ALSBERG. May I tell how Mr. Johns got on the project? I am trying to be completely frank.

Mr. STARNES. Yes; we appreciate you are being very frank.

Mr. ALSBERG. I did not come here in any spirit of hostility. I came—

The CHAIRMAN. We appreciate your attitude.

Mr. ALSBERG. Mr. Johns was going on the project by request, originally to supervise, when the project was started. The first project we had was called a reporting project. It was to report on W. P. A. activities and send reports in to Washington for use in the compiling of Nation-wide reports. We had those projects set up in a great many States. Mr. Johns was requisitioned by the then women's unprofessional service profession in New York City. I did not know Mr. Johns. They came to me and said—I was up there trying to get the project started and they came to me and said, "We would like to put this man on; he seems to be very good." I said, "If you will write a requisition to that effect and take the responsibility for it, I will put on Mr. Johns," because I did not know him. And that was done. And that is 3½ years ago.

There was a great deal of confusion when these things were started and they said, "He will make a good supervisor for the Reporters' Project." For quite a while there was nothing but a Reporters' Project in New York, until we got more people on, and Mr. Johns stayed as the Reporters' Project.

Mr. STARNES. He was a director for a time of the New York—

Mr. ALSBERG. I am getting to that.

Mr. STARNES. Yes.

Mr. ALSBERG. Then, as you know, and it is unnecessary to talk about it, there was a row on the project between factions. I had been busy organizing, getting 6,700 people on this thing, sending out instructions of how to write guides and what to do, and I was on the telephone practically 24 hours a day getting the thing going, and I left the project in New York in charge of two people who I thought could run it. Well, they could not and there was a ball-up. On one side there were accusations of fascism; on the other side, as you know from Mr. DeSolo's testimony, there was communism.

At that time I think there was an administrator in New York for these projects recently appointed. I went up to New York, as we had to cover that situation as quickly as possible, to put somebody in charge. The two people who were supposed to run it had not been able and made a mess, and they were out. So we put Johns in charge; we promoted Johns, without knowing anything about his political convictions, in order to get somebody in; because you had to run the Reporters' Project very quickly. It was the only part of the project where we did not have a row. We put him in as a director. He stayed for a certain time, then he resigned and I was rather glad he resigned, because I do not think the project was being run right before.

Then there was an interval in which we were looking for a director. A number of names were proposed. In the meantime, the project was in the hands of Mr. Donald Thompson—about whom there has been no testimony that he was a Communist, or anything of that sort; a Princeton graduate—as assistant director.

Finally, we found Mr. Harry L. Shaw, who was a professor at New York University, with the slightest recommendations for the place and with no political affiliations whatsoever, a consultant for Rutgers, a writer of textbooks, and so on. We put him in charge of the project, and he was in charge for nearly a year.

Mr. STARNES. What did you all do then, when you found you had a mess up there? You frankly faced the fact and took remedial action, did you not?

Mr. ALSBERG. Yes; I demoted—at that time, in 1936, I demoted all of the people who were making trouble. Some of them were transferred, others demoted. DeSolo has testified—I just saw some of his testimony—he was moved out to Staten Island. And we cleaned the mess up as best we could.

I do not mean to pretend here that the project in New York City has not suffered because there was a ball-up, and it is only now gradually rounding into shape as far as discipline goes. I am not sure to say that the New York project, as far as disturbance, and so on, has not been sort of a headache. I have had to spend a lot of time there, and once in a while, when the delegations were too ramshackle, I have had to go and attend to them, and use pretty rough language to them and saying, "We are not going to do this thing; we are not going to do that."

Mr. STARNES. That was when you had to go into the sit-down been invited to serve on its council at the time the organization was formed (December 1935) that he consented to serve but had never been asked to attend a meeting and had had no official connection with the organization. One felt tempted to ask him what Joseph Lash, executive secretary of the organization, expected to get for nothing. This same professor is a member of a board controlling some 35,000 college students, in other institutions than the one in which he holds an important chair. This incident is recited to show the very high esteem in which this Communist-controlled organization is held in some quarters.

It will be conceded by all, that the thinking of students is largely directed and controlled by their teachers, all the way from elementary to graduate groups, and one cannot measure the extent of this influence when exercised by an alert teacher who is filled with zeal for the spread of communism. It was found in practically every instance that the professor chosen to sponsor the American Student Union was always actively seeking every opportunity to bring himself or herself before the student body as the champion of liberty, showing himself or herself untiring in his efforts to make himself popular. No one can deny that this of itself is most commendable but when coupled with the spread of communism it becomes the basest kind of prostitution.

The party has set up a very definite program for the teachers of the United States as will be found from an article in the Communist, published in May 1937. In this article by Richard Frank, the American Student Union and the Young Communist League are named as the agencies to be utilized in the spread of communism in schools and the following quotation therefore shows the responsibility devolving upon teachers:

That they are responsible for training these children. . . . Communist teachers are therefore faced with a tremendous social responsibility. . . . They must take advantage of their positions, without exposing themselves, to give their students to the best of their ability working-class education. . . . enable teachers in the party to do the latter, the party must take careful steps to see that all teacher comrades are given thorough education in the teachings of Marxism-Leninism. Only when teachers have really mastered Marxism-Leninism will they be able skillfully to inject it into their teachings at the least risk of exposure, and at the same time conduct struggles around the schools in a truly Bolshevik manner.

The article continues with instructions for the use of Communist teachers in the rural schools and leading up to this climax:

A people's movement around the schools can thus transform the latter into popular forums for progressive social action, ultimately into forums for the revolution. . . . It can be seen from this how important it is to build the American Federation of Teachers.

The above excerpts have been made to show the real significance attaching to the repeated assertion that the American Federation of Teachers is strongly impregnated with communism. A teachers union has been organized in all parts of the East and West and in practically all the cities of the South, while not being usually found in the rural districts. Many of the leaders of these unions are, according to common report, zealously trying to comply with instructions issued by the party, their success being measured solely by the true Americanism to be found in the great body of teachers who are earnestly striving to train the boys and girls of the United States.

The college chapters of the Teachers' Union are found to be silent champions of academic freedom and free speech, and are invariably supporting the program of the American Student Union. They cannot yet comply with the instruction "Marxist-Leninism analysis must be injected into every class," largely because of the fear of exposure, which is a cardinal sin to the true Communist.

In a southern community of 80,000 population a former director of Commonwealth College, Mena, Ark., and a well-known Communist labor organizer was elected to membership on the school board, and as a result Communist teachers were brought into the schools. When this was discovered by the superintendent, he set about to change the composition of the board, and when this was done he dropped 31 teachers and 2 clerical employees, all members of the Teachers' Union, because of the Communist activities. This matter is now before the attorney general of the State for decision as to the authority of the board to discontinue the employees in question. This incident shows the power of one capable leader with zeal for the party. Commonwealth College is in close touch with this community, and at the present time has its printing done there as shown by the union label used.

In a close-by city in the same State, the acting chairman of the school board is a lady physician who served as medical officer for the party in Spain. The superintendent of schools stated that she had never made a move on the board which he considered subversive though she is recognized as a "liberal" in the city.

The American Student Union is always a "noisy" minority wherever it exists. It invariably gets representation on the school paper, if not full control. It succeeds in getting space in these papers clearly in excess of its proportionate student membership. It is always opposed to the R. O. T. C. at every opportunity. It is ever seeking to bring "red" speakers to the campus and is active in sponsoring "red" movements whether local or national in scope.

In one university, the American Student Union surreptitiously obtained the names of 600 freshman male enrollees and sent each one a letter which, according to the chancellor, was scurrilous and obscene, criticizing the R. O. T. C. unit and urging them not to enlist. He turned the letter over to the post-office authorities with a view to the prosecution of the guilty parties. No prosecution was attempted, but the chancellor canceled the scholarship appointments of the three students who were responsible for the issuance of the letter. He was unable to find out how they had obtained the names of the incoming students. This was cited by him as an outrageous instance of subversion. The same chancellor in discussing this subject said he was a "liberal," that he would hesitate to question any statement of a professor before his class, even if he showed himself to be more favorable to a foreign economic system than to that of the United States.

In a State university with an enrollment of 12,000 students, a proposal to establish an R. O. T. C. unit was so strongly opposed by one of the professors, a brother of a well-known Communist of the State, that the proposal was defeated. The colonel of the U. S.

have a legal right to be on the communist ticket. I would not exclude them from the ballot; I do not think that would be right.
I think that really would be a breach of the right of free speech expression of opinion.

The CHAIRMAN. How many votes were cast in Philadelphia?
You know!

Q. Now, what did you mean by that? I mean to find that out just before I came down here.

The CHAIRMAN. Did they have communist candidates for governor and for the assembly?

Mr. WELSH. They had communist candidates, but what their vote got I do not know.

The CHAIRMAN. Could you find out and let me know what the vote was?

Mr. WELSH. Oh, yes.
The CHAIRMAN. Have

The CHAIRMAN. Have you any other recommendations to make to the committee?

Mr. WELSH. I think the United States should have a criminal syndicalism law, most certainly, because these people can not be reached at all.

Mr. NELSON. Would that not be a very difficult thing to frame?

Mr. WHEELER. No; I think not. They have done it quite nicely in California and it has been sustained by the Supreme Court of the United States. I do not think it would be difficult. You have one in Pennsylvania. New York had one and it was upheld by the Supreme Court. In the Gitlow case. In Michigan that sort of thing was upheld in the Ruthenberg case.

The CHAIRMAN. Have you any other recommendations, or would you prefer to submit them in writing? We have to make a little more progress here to-day; we have a number of witnesses from out of town who are to be heard.

Mr. WELSH. I think I would rather submit them in writing; I can study them more carefully.

Here is a paper showing the hook-up of the communists with the schools.

Mr. NELSON: Mr. Welsh, I think the committee appreciates the work you have done, but we already have a large file of papers and

Mr. WELSH. There are one or two things I would like to ask

Mr. NELSON. But if you will file those we could check them up

Mr. WELSH was his connection with the anarchist Herbert

The CHAIRMAN: Who?

Mr. WELSH, George B. West
Mr. BACHMANN, Wm. H. West

Mr. WELSH. He is on the American Civil Liberties Union national committee and is aiding the communists.

Mr. BACHMANN. But is he a communist?
Mr. WELSH. He was aiding the anarchist.

The CHAIRMAN Just file that.

There is just one thing. His name was not Mooney, but Mooney, which was false, to Alexander Berkman, the only leading anarchist of the country, for Berkman's approval. Then it was published as a United States document. And there are many more of that sort.

The CHAIRMAN. But we are not investigating him individually.

Mr. WELSH: I am only asking whether the Civil Liberties Union national committee has any interest in this case. I do not know whether that is of any interest to you or not. This is an extract from the court's decision in this case.

The CHAIRMAN. Just file it. We want to thank you very much for coming down here. You have given a great deal of study to this problem and given us very valuable information, and I believe you have a mass of information, probably second to none in the country, and we will be glad to look over the documents and use what we can.

Mr. WILSON, Mr. Jung in Chicago and I exchange information. In fact, Mr. Jung got in touch through me, and we exchange information constantly and I have a great deal more I have collected during the war, and an immense amount of undercover information.

The CHAIRMAN. Thank you very much for coming down here and listening to us.

Mr. WHEEL. I am very much obliged to you gentlemen for

WASH. EXHIBIT NO.

The following is a list of some, but by no means all, of the officers and members of the American Civil Liberties Union, groups and communists, some of these organizations are purely communist and controlled by communists. Others are affliated into which the American Civil Liberties Union group have sevelly bared, while others are gotten up and dominated by them and their communist friends. It should be remembered that one of our chief representatives in the United States has for years been Moscow's representative on the American Civil Liberties Union national committee, namely, William Z. Foster, who resigned about two weeks ago, ostensibly over some row between the American Civil Liberties Union and the International Labor Defense. From the American Civil Liberties Union was let in for the hellbonds of the Spanish murders. Whether or not this is merely an excuse, I do not know. But Robert W. Dunn, has been increasing in influence and apparently in the confidence of Moscow, which he now represents on the American Civil Liberties Union national committee. There are, however, not all other communists and some who state they are not communists but are members of purely communist organizations, such as the International Labor Defense, the National Board for the Protection of Foreign Born Workers, the American People's groups, including the Daily Worker, the International Labor Defense, and so forth.

Remandous has been the progress made during the past few years by the many organizations which exist for the purpose of changing the ideology of America.

Mr. BACHMANN: You are speaking now of the Garland Fund, are you not?

Mr. STEELE: Yes, sir.

Mr. NELSON: Are you reading from a report?

Mr. STEELE: No, sir, I am reading from a statement, now. This, Lenin said, is the first and most important step toward overthrowing the institutions of the country.

The Daily Worker, along with the I. W. W.—revolutionary organization committed to violence in the settlement of industrial and political disputes—the Communist Young Pioneers and similar revolutionary organizations, received their cash for the purpose of stirring up armed insurrection against the American Government. Other organizations engaged in disseminating propaganda for disarmament and against military training in the schools and colleges, and elsewhere, also received cash contributions and loans—in other words, financial aid is extended for agitation against the preparation of youth in accordance with the policy of Theodore Roosevelt, to defend their country against the attacks which the revolutionary organizations publicly proclaim they intend to make. In the one case offense by violence was promoted—in the other defense by mosaic. They illustrate the success achieved by revolutionary radicalism in the United States in using good men for a common purpose—and that purpose, as announced by the bigger beneficiaries of the fund, the extirpation of free government, religion, the home, and all the institutions of American civilization.

Millions of dollars have been poured out during the last few years to promote on the one hand the militant organization of the forces of destruction in the United States, and on the other hand to wear down the spirit of national loyalty and destroy the disposition of the American people to fit themselves to defend their country against violence, foreign and domestic, invoked to bring about the destruction of America and all it stands for. No better illustration of this of the activities of the American Fund for Public Service and its far-flung subsidies to organizations and movements believed to contribute directly or indirectly to radical purposes.

The officials of the American Fund for Public Service, according to the report, included the following: Roger Baldwin, Robert W. Dunn, Morris Ernst, Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, Lewis S. Gannett, Benjamin Gitlow, Clinton Golden, James Weldon Johnson, Freda Kirchwey, Claring Nicholson, Scott Nearing, and Norman H. Thomas.

The organization to which this fund has been disbursed number approximately 50; the amount in outright contributions and loans approximately $2,000,000.

Lenin is quoted as having advised his followers to also build communism with noncommunist hands.

A pamphlet, Twenty Years of Social Progress, issued by the League for Industrial Democracy, which organization has received thousands of dollars from the American Fund for Public Service, quotes Roger Baldwin, as director of the fund, as follows:

To many of us interlocking directors, and to many of us interlocking contributors, it is pretty difficult to tell from whom to bring the greetings, and to whom to give the greetings. It is sometimes difficult for me to tell whether I am in a meeting of the L. I. D. (League for Industrial Democracy) or a meeting of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Florence Kelley, formerly Mrs. Wischniewsky, head of many so-called welfare movements in the United States and usually in prominence at child welfare and maternity conferences, a pupil friend, and translator of Friedrich Engels (coauthor with Karl Marx of the Communist Manifesto, so freely circulated in this country by both communists and socialists), is quoted in the most packer hearing, May, 1921, page 28, as testifying:

We are now organized with a thousand ramifications, we have more working directorates than business has.

This report, together with the attached exhibits, is evidence of the fact that the road to communism is being paved by certain so-called noncommunist bands through the financing of the American Fund for Public Service.

I herewith enter this report for the records as Exhibit 1, together with Exhibits 2 to 38, inclusive, which contains data bearing upon the report and the organizations receiving financial aid from the fund in question.

Mr. BACHMANN: While you are talking about that Garland Fund, what was the original amount of the Garland Fund?

Mr. STEELE: Approximately $200,000.

Mr. BACHMANN: And it was invested so that it increased to $2,000,000.

Mr. STEELE: According to their report, yes.

Mr. BACHMANN: Has it all been dispensed now?

Mr. STEELE: No, sir.

Mr. BACHMANN: How much of it is left?

Mr. STEELE: I understand there are approximately $200,000 remaining in the fund.

Mr. BACHMANN: Well, they have authority to disburse all of it they so desire?

Mr. STEELE: Yes, sir.

The CHAIRMAN: Thank you very much. Mr. BACHMANN: (The exhibits submitted for the hearing are as follows:)

One may wonder the inner accuracy of the prophecy that wage earners and farmers would be treated with particular harshness—but why don't the churchmen, critics of Russia, protest the system here at home, which is designed to dehumanize the slave mind? They have heard their master's voice.

1. The first step in the process is to identify the problem or issue that needs to be addressed. This involves gathering information and understanding the context of the problem.

What is Commonwealth College?
Self-supporting and independent education for women

Commonwealth is located in the heart of the Orizabitas, the southernmost range of the Sierra, where it operates agricultural and other basic industries by means of four hours' labor daily from its students and teachers.

Commonwealth is the only college in the world owned and operated by resident teachers and students.

Commonwealth is a nonsectarian, nonpropaganda institution. It holds no particular religious, political or economic dogma. It holds that the only way to achieve the better world is by the gradual, non-violent, non-propaganda means. The only hope for adjustment of the world is by the gradual, non-violent, non-propaganda means.
